A BREWING GUIDE

The Jebena Ritual

The authentic Ethiopian coffee ceremony, brought home

LOVE AT FIRST SIP

OUR HERITAGE

Where Coffee Was Born

Legend tells of Kaldi, a goat herder on the ancient highlands of Kaffa in southwestern Ethiopia, who first discovered the coffee plant. For more than a thousand years since, Ethiopians have honored that gift through the Jebena Buna — a ceremony of patience, heritage, and community, poured into a small porcelain cup.

Every bag we roast carries this story. Now we invite you to bring the ritual home.

"Buna dabo naw."

COFFEE IS OUR BREAD — ETHIOPIAN PROVERB

The Jebena

A hand-crafted clay pot with a round base, slender neck, and woven stopper. Brewed slowly over flame, it lets the grounds settle naturally — for a cup that is bold, smooth, gently earthy, and deeply aromatic.

THE PREPARATION

Step by Step

01 Set the Mood

Light frankincense, put on quiet Ethiopian music, and slow down. Incense purifies the space and tells your circle that coffee is on its way.

Give yourself thirty unhurried minutes — presence is part of the recipe.

02 Grind Your Beans

Allow two heaping tablespoons (15–18 g) per person. Grind medium-fine — like fine sand between your fingers, just coarser than espresso.

We recommend our Dark Roast — the clay draws out its full, smooth body.

03 Add Cold Water

Fill the Jebena with fresh, cold water — about one cup (240 ml) per guest — and rest the stopper loosely in the neck.

Never begin with hot water; the slow climb in heat is the secret.

04 Warm It Slowly

Set over low heat and bring to a gentle simmer, 8–12 minutes. Listen for the water stirring; watch for wisps of steam.

Clay is fragile when cold — always start on the lowest flame.

05 Add the Coffee

Remove the stopper, add the grounds, and swirl gently to combine. Sugar may go in now or be served alongside — both are traditional.

A pinch of cardamom or cloves here adds a gentle warmth.

06 Let It Brew

Keep over low heat for 8–12 minutes at a slow, steady bubble. When the coffee begins to rise up the neck, lift it from the heat.

07 Rest & Settle

Rest the Jebena 3–5 minutes on a woven mat so the grounds sink into its round base. This is the one step never to rush.

08 The Pour

Tilt slowly and pour in one unbroken stream from 4–6 inches above each cup, filling it two-thirds. The long neck holds the grounds back.

09 · THE THREE ROUNDS

Abol FIRST	The strongest, most precious cup — offered to the guest of honor.
Tona SECOND	Water is added and the pot rebrewed — lighter, warm, reflective.
Baraka THIRD	"Blessing" — the gentlest cup, closing the ceremony in gratitude.

SERVE WITH

Salted popcorn · kolo · dates or dried figs · sugar on the side

It is considered impolite to leave before the third cup.
